Meghann Erhart serves Pilot Flying J as Director of Supply Chain Strategy and Customer Sales Support.

Erhart joined the company in 2007 as a project manager in technology and worked on new system rollouts after working as a software and hardware improvement analyst for key domestic and global customers for Radiant Systems in Alpharetta, Georgia. In 2010, she was promoted to senior manager of logistics, where Erhart and her team successfully incorporated all U.S. and Canadian owned and operated stores into centralized dispatch as well as worked to develop key systems to efficiently purchase and transport fuel.

Managing the logistics team and working within our Pilot Flying J and Pilot Thomas Logistics trucking operations led to an expanded role, and she joined the sales team in October 2013. Erhart helps with supporting both customers and sales representatives through efficient and effective technology, processes and procedures.

She was promoted to director in May 2014 and oversees key strategic initiatives for sales, including channel partners, sales and fuel technology and sales organizational initiatives. She blends customer focus, logistics and supply chain strategy to the company's overall key initiatives.

Erhart earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Georgia Tech in Atlanta and graduated in December 2013 from the University of Tennessee's Global Supply Chain Executive MBA program.
